TELL HOW TO STORE CABBAGE

Pull Up With Roots, Transplant to Cellar, Advice of College.

Numerous inquiries have been coming to the University of Missouri College of Agriculture concerning home storage of cabbage as well as other vegetables for winter use. It is suggested that cabbage be pulled up with the roots on, and where a cool moist cellar is available, transplanting the plants to the cellar, setting them close together with the roots in a layer of sand or soil five or six inches deep. This soil is to be kept moist and if the cellar is kept cool enough the heads of cabbage will remain in good condition for some time. Where a larger amount of cabbage is to be stored, or where no suitable cellar is available, pitting out doors is advised.

A shallow trench is dug wide enough to hold three or five heads of cabbage along-side each other, and as long as necessary to hold the bulk of cabbage being stored. In this trench the cabbage with roots on is placed head-down, with the loose outer leaves wrapped under the head as well as possible. A second and perhaps a third layer of heads is placed in the same position, between the roots of the first layer. The whole bank is then covered with moist earth. All the protruding roots should be well covered with soil. After very cold weather has come the bank should be heavily mulched with straw, to prevent constant freezing and thawing of the bank and also to protect them from heat and drying effect of the sun.

GIRLS WILL BE GIRLS:

STORY OF A "TUBBING"

"And it cost her dearly," said a girl who had helped "tub" a Kansas sympathizer. "She has promised never to say another word against this school." It all happened, after the recent Aggie game at . . . but, we had better not say. They are all bashful and do not like publicity.

There were fifteen of them in it. The foolish one came to her room after the game and stated that she was glad Kansas had won. Two hair brushes fell to the floor in another room and two persons rushed in to find out who it was that loved Kansas so. There was consternation, consultation and condemnation, and things began to happen. The climax would have happened then and there had it not been for a silk dress and merciful hearts. "Tonight" was the word that was whispered about.

At 10:30, when most good folk are abed, there gathered outside the door of the condemned one, fifteen girls in, in . . . but we had better not say. There was a gentle tap, tap, tap at the door, and a voice from within asked them to come in. The light flashed on, and their mission was understood.

"There is a tub of water, of a reasonable degree of heat," said the leader, "waiting for you. When we have finished giving you your bath, I have a little paper for you to read. I think the bath is about the right temperature now, so come along." And they took her off, and a moment later there was a sound of much splashing.

There came another sound. Someone was saying something in a strange voice. It was: "Realizing that what I said this afternoon was not only disloyal but also exceeded the limits of propriety, I . . . do repent and am heartily sorry for my foolish and rash words and promise to never again speak one word against the University of Missouri or anything connected with it."

"A good total immersion," they said afterward, "has never failed to convert a Kansan into a good Christian Missourian."

Almost Two Billion in Treasury.

The crest of the tide of inflowing Liberty Loan dollars was reached today when the net balance in the United States Treasury reached the new high record of $1,921,000,000.

Most officials believe this mark will not be exceeded for at least several months, when the huge returns from income and excess-profits taxes, and from future Liberty Loans roll in, although payments on the new issue of certificates of indebtedness, planned to counteract the tax returns, cannot be determined until after December 1.

Advocate Reducing Price of Coal.

Attorney General Frank W. McAllister.

ter, in a summary submitted to National Fuel Administrator Garfield, says that the reduction in prices of coal at the mines to a reasonable profit basis will be the only solution to the strike conditions. He gives evidence that the railroads and other large industries are securing their coal supply at reasonable prices, whereas the small consumer pays a much higher price, allowing a larger profit to the operators.

CREAM

BAKING POWDER

saves eggs in baking

In many recipes only half as many eggs are required, in some none at all, if an additional quantity of Dr. Price's Baking Powder is used, about a teaspoon, in place of each egg omitted. Try the following recipes which also conserve white flour as urged by the government.

Corn Meal Griddle Cakes

1 1/2 cups corn meal
1 1/2 cups boiling water
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon shortening
1 tablespoon molasses
3/4 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons Dr. Price's Baking Powder
NO EGGS

Boil corn meal in bowl with boiling water; add milk. Melted shortening and molasses; add flour, salt and baking powder which have been sifted together; mix well. Bake on hot greased griddle until brown.

(The Old Method called for 2 eggs)

Eggless, Milkless, Butterless Cake

1 cup brown sugar
1 1/2 cups water
1 cup seeded raisins
2 ounces citron, cut fine
1/2 cup shortening
5 teaspoons Dr. Price's Baking Powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup flour
1 cup rye flour
5 teaspoons Dr. Price's Baking Powder

Boil sugar, water, fruit, shortening, salt and spices together in saucepan 3 minutes. When cool, add flour and baking powder which have been sifted together. Mix well; bake in loaf pan in moderate oven about 45 minutes.

(The Old Method [Fruit Cake] called for 2 eggs)

Send for our new booklet "How to save eggs by using Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder." Mailed free on request. Address Dept. H., 1001 Independence Boulevard, Chicago.
